

all states should have the stringent law that Indiana has...it was nothing to have 8-9 hangup calls from solicitors in a four hour period...once I signed our household up we have gained back our privacy...our phone...and peace of mine..I specifically installed a answering machine just because of telemarketers...they are a MENACE...it is nothing to be at home at night and have call after call and they are nothing but telemarketers...so please do not mandate a lesser law than what Indiana has...everyone nation wide will thank the FCC for their foresight and consideration of each and every american and american family by standing by what is right and that is having the toughest law you can have to deter telemarketers from invading our privacy...thank you....god bless america.....
